Course Description: 10 days of sunshine leading into the event weekend, to good to be true as a storm front moved into the region Thursday night and dumped buckets of water onto the course. By 10:30 Friday morning the rain had stopped and the course absorbed the rain like a sponge - by the 7:30pm trail check the course was dry - ripp'n & gripp'n. But the curse of Manatoc was in full effect as mother nature opened up her can of BVR whoop arsh Friday night as it rained all night. For the open riding Saturday morning the first riders on the trail had slightly unpleasent conditions, rumors of slick conditions and heavy mud were confirmed as riders rolled in. For those that waited til the afternoon, the course dried up and was once again ripp'n & gripp'n. To good to be true...yes...no... well Sunday morning many NE Ohio racers woke up to heavy lake effect rain, the race hotline was ringing off the hook. Many could not believe it but the mighty Manatoc Totem Poles had done their thing and a force field was activated and all the storms stayed north. We had a little mistyness but nothing broke the tree canopy, the course remained 95% tacky and dry. Temperatures remained in the cool 60's.
